The Official Catholic Directory

Anno Domini

1999

Published Annually by

P. J. Kenedy & Sons

FOREWORD

We are proud to present the 1999 edition of the Official Catholic Directory and again wish to thank all the ecclesiastical authorities and diocesan officials involved for their cooperation and participation. We consistently strive to maintain the integrity and credibility of information and offer it in an easy to understand environment.

Packaged with the Official Catholic Directory, is the Special Millennium Edition of the Pilgrimage Destination Guide. As pointed out by the Bishops Subcommittee on the Third Millennium, this celebration of the "Jubilee Year" offers the Church the opportunity to reflect on the meaning of Christianity locally, nationwide and internationally. Many are expected to journey to pilgrimage areas significant both in historical and traditional value to the Christian faith. This booklet has been developed in order to provide information relative to the pilgrim areas and the surrounding regions, as well as maps and contacts information.

Part II of the Official Catholic Directory, published in early autumn, is included with your subscription. Part II contains revisions and updates not found in the main and complete lists of the dioceses and archdioceses of the world reprinted with permission from the Vatican.

We are proud to carry on the rich tradition of providing a detailed and thorough portrait of the Catholic Church in the United States. It is our hope to continue to develop this portrayal on a universal level as we endeavor to improve and excel.

The Seal of P.J. Kenedy & Sons
The Official Catholic Directory

SIGNIFICANCE:

The shield is the central part of a heraldic device, which is more commonly known as a coat of arms. If that shield is enclosed within a body of text, or other type of surrounding configuration, the device becomes know as a seal, yet it is the shield portion of the design that is the most important, and that which is described technically as the blazon. As the design is examined, it must be remembered that by heraldic tradition the design is described (blazoned) as if being done by the bearer with the shield being worn on the arm. Therefore, the terms dexter and sinister will be reversed as the design is viewed from the front.

The shield of the seal for The Official Catholic Directory has been designed to reflect the character and heritage of this publication of P.J. Kenedy & Sons.

The shield is in two major portions. The right half (sinister impalement) is composed of the blue field on which are seen a silver tree, two candles (in silver or white) in their candleholders (of gold or yellow) and an open book, edged in gold and with a red bookmark. These symbols have been used over the years as the sign of the P.J. Kenedy and Sons publishing organization. These are the traditional symbols of knowledge and learning, so appropriate to a publisher.

The other side of the shield (the dexter impalement) is composed of a silver (white) field on which is seen a red cross, throughout, and a gold eagle. These symbols, combined with the field of the sinister impalement, are represented in the color of the flag of the United States of America and the eagle, the symbol of the United States. The cross represents Christianity and all of this combines to signify that The Official Catholic Directory annually reports on the Catholic Church in the United States.

The shield is surrounded by a laurel wreath of excellence and is enclosed within the legend that states the name of the company, the name of the publication and date (1817) of its founding.

TERRA SANCTA GUILD®
is committed to fine design and workmanship in Christian insignia, recognition awards and gifts expressive of religious thought -all graphic signs of faith.

I.A. Serot
President

Over 30 years ago, Terra Sancta Guild®

came onto the market with its own original copyrighted designs. Through our renowned Art Department, we dedicated ourselves to bring forth significant items designed for home, church, and school – pieces that would not add to the glut of kitsch. "What I like about Terra Sancta Guild," said a prominent clergyman in 1965, "is that I can hand these items down to my grandchildren." That comment encouraged us at the time, and now we see succeeding generations who still cherish our products. Today, for example, our responsive clients are requesting us to produce more Celtic designs .

Right: Adé Bethune, Terra Sancta Guild Art Director, is a renowned liturgical artist. Her fame as writer and illustrator, and her expertise in church architecture, are based on a profound grasp of Christian symbolism spoken in the Biblical tradition, in the multi-layered dimensions of Christian worship. Abigail McCarthy says that Adé has done "more than any other artist to rescue twentieth century religious art from the saccharine and the vapid." The Living Church writes that Adé should be declared "a national treasure."

JOIN A GLOBAL MINISTRY

Air Force chaplains go where Air Force personnel are located around the world. Take the challenge of your ministry to a new level in the global military community. Your parish may be wherever our troops are called to serve — on the deserts of Iraq or the snow fields of Alaska. Now more than ever, we need qualified priests as a sign of the church for our military to provide sacramental and pastoral care to members and their families. Military in the next century will be shaped by unforeseen challenges and limitless opportunities. The Air Force is urgently looking for priests as chaplains. If you would be interested in the contemporary military opportunities in the Air Force and want to be part of creating a Global Ministry call 1-800-803-2452.

Catholic Schools recognize that education should have a higher purpose. Now, so do Catholic School Uniforms.

When you purchase a school uniform from the Vatican Library Collection you know two things:

First, you have purchased a uniform of the highest quality, assured by the Seal of the Vatican Library collection. And secondly, you have helped make it possible to maintain and preserve an important part of our Catholic heritage – the irreplaceable masterpieces of the Vatican Library.

For more information please contact The Vatican Library Collection of School Uniforms at 800-283-7272 x 104 or visit us on-line at www.classroomuniforms.com.

The Vatican Library Collection

Offers Its Treasures To You

Imagine... a priceless collection of ancient maps, illuminated manuscripts, and fine art protected for centuries in vaults at the heart of the Church's most spiritual and intellectual center.

Imagine, too, that this premiere collection has been protected with such dedication that only a handful of scholars have had access to its rarest treasures.

Now imagine that the doors to this extraordinary collection are to be opened for the first time in over 500 years.

But there is no need to imagine. This collection actually exists. It is located in Vatican City beneath the Biblioteca Apostolica Vaticana, a library established in the fifteenth century by Pope Nicholas V for "the convenience of the learned."

Today... the Vatican Library is in need of modernization and restoration. As a privately held research library, its funding falls short of its needs.

Now, through the creation of "The Vatican Library Collection", you have the opportunity to purchase products of remarkable beauty while helping to preserve and protect the magnificence and splendor of the Vatican Library for future generations.

The Pontifical North American College

00120 Vatican City State
Europe

Early in 1855, His Holiness Pope Pius IX indicated to American bishops his interest in seeing a national seminary in Rome for the formation of candidates from the United States. In 1859, on the feast of the Immaculate Conception, the seminary opened with twelve candidates.

With that modest beginning, the Pontifical North American College now serves as a home away from home for more than 300 seminarians and priests in various stages of formation or graduate study.

The prospect of living and studying in Rome offers an environment replete with unique opportunities that enhance the personal preparation of someone aspiring to the priesthood.

Those pursuing the priestly vocation who may wish to be formed here at the heart of the Church should speak with the diocesan vocation director in their own diocese.

THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

is the world's largest Catholic family fraternal service organization, with nearly 1.6 million members in more than 12,000 councils throughout North America, Mexico, the Caribbean, the Philippines and other countries in the Pacific rim.

The founding principles of the Order — Charity, Unity, Fraternity and Patriotism — remain the foundation on which we continue to grow. "Protecting Families for Generations" is more than a slogan. It is a statement of our concern for the Church, our less-fortunate neighbors and one another — a concern that manifests itself annually in charitable contributions of $100 million and 50 million hours of volunteer service, and a top-ranked insurance program for members and their families.

OMNISTAND™

WITH SMARTLITE™ "ONE TOUCH" TECHNOLOGY

Adaptable Votive Stand and Shelf System

OMNISTAND™ with SMARTLITE™ "one touch" technology offers a simple solution to institutions, churches, and mausoleums whose votive stand and candle assemblies pose problems due to dangerous flames, polluting smoke, and wax spillage.

SMARTLITE'S™ "one touch" technology creates a simple way to light votive candles. Lightly press the top and it's lit, with the most realistic electronic flame ever!

The SMARTLITE™ candles represent a safe and clean way to experience the pleasure and ambiance of lit candles without worrying about the danger of flames, the mess that melted wax leaves behind or pollution and unsightly smoke. The simulated wick radiates a realistic glow of light equivalent to that of flames generated by lit wax candles and oil burning kerosene lanterns. The imitation crystal cover is available in a wide array of colors.

Our patented OMNISTAND™ design hides all switches and wires so there is no visible sign of electricity. The electronic circuitry is state of the art. Snap-in and snap-out circuit boards for each light makes SMARTLITE™ extremely easy to service.

The OMNISTAND™ is a modular system, constructed of real wood, imitation marble, laminated aluminum or painted aluminum extrusions designed to work in a wide variety of applications.

Don't put your faith in other Votive stands. Let OMNISTAND™ with SMARTLITE™ "one touch" technology make you into a true believer!

The most important treatment happens after the staff goes home.

Since 1956, Guest House has returned more than 5,000 priests, brothers, deacons and seminarians to active ministry after their bouts with alcoholism were treated in one of our facilities. We are often asked what makes our treatment so unique. We believe that God has empowered us to provide the right environment for this special population of God's servants to regain their wholeness, their health, and their vocations.

We do have an excellent staff, and the world renowned Mayo Clinic provides the medical services to our clients.

But our guests sometimes say that the most important treatment at Guest House happens after the staff goes home - in conversations on the porch or on walks around the campus or talks in the dining room or around the AA tables.

There is something special about this group of men, alike in the uniqueness of their vocations, who come together to begin the recovery process at Guest House. That's why we are here when the need for help arises. That's why we were founded 43 years ago.

Rambusch Continuity

Cathedral of the Sacred Heart,

Most Reverend Walter F. Sullivan,
D.D. Bishop
Reverend Thomas G. Miller, Rector
Aquino & Winthrop, Architects
John C. Buscemi,
Liturgical Designer
Viggo B. Rambusch,
Lighting Designer

KATHRINE WETTEL PHOTOGRAPHER

Four generations devoted to a cathedral's evolving needs. Rambusch's 62 year history with the Cathedral began in 1930 with the design and execution of its decorative scheme and with lantern lighting. In 1992, its interior cleaned/restored, Rambusch designed a multi-level lighting system (with 26 channels grouped into 4 basic functions at 12 pre-set levels), and provided Rambusch standard and custom fixtures to function for its evolving need. In these 4 generations, Rambusch had added stained glass windows, recessed lighting and the sanctuary liturgical rearrangement. It is a typical Rambusch story of consistency, of continuous participation...and of a unique ability to combine technology and tradition within and for the creation of a total religious environment.

HUMAN LIFE INTERNATIONAL

DEFENDING LIFE, FAITH AND FAMILY AROUND THE WORLD

The mission of Human Life International is to promote and defend the sanctity of life and family around the world according to the teachings of the Roman Catholic Church through prayer, service and education. Four generations devoted to a cathedral's evolving needs. Rambusch's 62 year history with the Cathedral began in 1930 with the design and execution of its decorative scheme and with lantern lighting. In 1992, its interior cleaned/restored, Rambusch designed a multi-level lighting system (with 26 channels grouped into 4 basic functions at 12 pre-set levels), and provided Rambusch standard and custom fixtures to function for its evolving need. In these 4 generations, Rambusch had added stained glass windows, recessed lighting and the sanctuary liturgical rearrangement. It is a typical Rambusch story of consistency, of continuous participation...and of a unique ability to combine technology and tradition within and for the creation of a total religious environment.

Rambusch and St. Andrew Avellino Church.
An ingenious renovation for the future.

In renovating this 1930s Art Deco church, Rambusch worked closely with the pastor. A new font/pool was formed from the original railing materials and a new expansive sanctuary entry was created, removing barriers so that the celebrant and the community can worship as one. New lighting was added and five other areas were renovated, all to prepare this beloved church for the future. Viggo or Martin Rambusch would welcome your inquiries.

THE OFFICIAL CATHOLIC DIRECTORY GLOSSARY

Abbot
The superior of an autonomous community of men religious. He has general and sacramental jurisdiction over his community. The head of a prominent monastery or a congregation consisting of several monasteries is an archabbot.

Advocate
An ecclesiastical advocate is someone approved by Church authority to safeguard the rights of a party in a canonical process by arguments regarding the law and the facts of the case. [Cf. c. 1481 and CLSA Comm., p. 967]

Apostolate
Apostolate is the mission of Christ and participation in it. Its object is to bring Christ to others, its goal is the greater glory of God, its scope is universal. The work is carried out by every human agency by which the life of grace may be given or increased in the soul. A mandate from the Church is essential to the Catholic apostolate.

Archbishop
A bishop of a main or metropolitan diocese in an ecclesiastical province. The term is equivalent to metropolitan in the Western Church. It may also be granted to other ordinaries and non-residential bishops, and to the ordinary of a diocese outside a province.

Auditor
An official of a diocesan court, who gathers evidence and testimony and draws up a record of an ecclesiastical case.

Bishop
A bishop, by divine institution, carries on the work of the apostles. By reason of episcopal consecration, he shares in the triple apostolic function of teacher of doctrine, priest of sacred worship, and minister of church government. Bishops are responsible for the pastoral care of their dioceses. In addition, bishops have a responsibility to act in council to guide the Church. The term eparch is used in Eastern-rite churches.

The bishop to whom a particular or local church is entrusted is called a diocesan bishop or a residential bishop. All other bishops receive Titular Sees over which they exercise no pastoral authority.

When the pastoral needs of a diocese or archdiocese warrant, an auxiliary bishop may be assigned to aid the residential bishop in governing his diocese. An auxiliary bishop is assigned when the residential bishop needs assistance in carrying out his duties because of ill health, advanced age, or amount of work. An auxiliary bishop does not have the right of succession within his diocese.

In special circumstances, such as the advanced age or ill health of a diocesan bishop, a coadjutator bishop may be appointed to assist the principal bishop of a diocese. Coadjutator bishops have the right of succession in the diocese of their appointment from the time the See becomes vacant upon the death or retirement of its bishop.

Brother
A man who is a member of a religious order, but is not ordained or studying for the priesthood.

Cana Conference
A Catholic family movement, originally designed to aid married couples and families in their spiritual and interpersonal relationships. The program is now divided into Pre-Cana, for couples engaged to be married, and Cana Conferences, programs for married people.

Censor Librorum
A theologian empowered by a bishop to judge a book's soundness in regard to Church teaching before publication.

Chancellor
The office of the chancellor (or the chancery) evolved from the practice in the early Church of appointing an official to sign and preserve the letters of the bishop. The first function of the chancellor in the present day is gathering, arranging, and safeguarding the acts of the diocesan curia. Dispensations and other official documents also originate from the chancery. In many dioceses, the chancellor continues to exercise ordinary jurisdiction as delegated by the diocesan bishop. He or she may be assisted by a separate official, the vice-chancellor.

Chapter
The general chapter of a religious order is an assembly of elected or appointed members and provincials. General chapters are convened for the election of officers, amendments to the constitution, and discussion and legislation of matters of concern to members and the order as a whole.

A provincial chapter conducts elections and handles legislation on a provincial level. The assembly is comprised of superiors and representatives of the religious.

A chapter of canons is a group of diocesan priests, appointed by the bishop of a diocese, with assigned authority or responsibilities.

College of Cardinals
The College of Cardinals is made up of the cardinals of the Church, who advise the Pope, assist in the central administration of the Church, head the various curial offices and congregations, administer the Holy See during a vacancy, and elect a new Pope. There are three ranks in the College of Cardinals, corresponding to the historical origins of cardinals in the Roman Catholic Church. All cardinals are bishops, but their rank within the College of Cardinals is characterized by one of the hierarchical ranks of bishop, priest, or deacon. Cardinals are given honorary title to churches in the city of Rome. [CF. c. 350; CLSA Comm., pp. 288-289]

1. Cardinal Bishops
There are two types of Cardinal Bishops: 1) those appointed by the Pope as titular bishops to one of the six suburban dioceses of Rome, and 2) Eastern-rite Patriarchs who are heads of Sees with apostolic origins that have been assigned to the College of Cardinals.

2. Cardinal Priests
Heads of Sees outside the city of Rome are assigned a "titular church," one of the churches in Rome. They have no pastoral authority over their titular church.

3. Cardinal Deacons
Cardinals of diaconal rank are bishops without Sees who head the various departments, offices, congregations, committees, and the Secretariat of State of the Roman Curia.

Confraternity of Christian Doctrine [CCD]
A lay organization established for religious education throughout a person's entire life. The term is currently used to describe Catholic parish-based religious education of children from kindergarten through high school. At the diocesan level, the offices are now more commonly known as offices of religious education or Christian formation. Nationally, the confraternity's religious education component has been taken over by the USCC's Department of Education. It still exists as a separate entity under the USCC Administrative Board, with responsibility for licensing religious and spiritual literature.

Consolidated School
The term, as used in the Directory, may refer to a school that takes students from more than one parish, or a school that was formed by the consolidation of two or three other schools. In both cases, it is a means of keeping a Catholic school in a given area open by taking students from the surrounding areas, regardless of parish boundaries.

Convent
In common usage, the term refers to a house of women religious. Originally, it referred to a building where members of religious institutes lived, and was not restricted to communities of women.

Cursillo
The cursillo de cristianidad, or "little course in Christianity," is a three-day program for achieving spiritual renewal or spiritual awakening. It seeks to convey a new sense of individual and organized apostolic action. The program, conducted by priests and laypeople, consists of a three-day weekend focused on prayer, study, and Christian action, and a follow-up program known as the post-cursillo.

Deacons
The diaconate is the first order or grade in ordained ministry. Its origins are in early apostolic times, when deacons preached and baptized under the direction of the presbyters or bishops. Any man who is to be ordained to the priesthood must first be ordained as a transitional deacon. Deacons serve in the ministry of liturgy, of the word, and of charity.

In 1967, Pope Paul VI reinstituted the Permanent Diaconate for men who do not plan to become ordained priests. Although men ordained as permanent deacons are sometimes referred to as "married deacons," the permanent diaconate is open to both married and unmarried men, with the understanding that after ordination, they may not marry even after the death of a spouse. Under the authority of the diocesan bishop, they perform the same functions as the transitional deacons while, at the same time, retaining their roles in society as family and business men.

Dean/Vicar Forane
The title of a priest appointed by the bishop to aid him in administering the parishes in a certain vicinity, called a "deanery," or "vicariates forane." The function of a dean, or vicar forane, involves promotion, coordination, and supervision of the common pastoral activity within the deanery or vicariate.

Defender of the Bond
A member of a diocesan tribunal, either a cleric or a lay person, holding a graduate degree in canon law, who is appointed by the diocesan bishop for cases concerning the nullity of sacred ordination or the nullity or dissolution of the marriage bond. The defender of the bond is responsible for a review of the evidence, scrutiny of the briefs, examination of witnesses, and maintenance of proper procedures during the trial. The defender also deals with some situations concerning the content of the litigation rather than the legal procedures.

Diocesan Consultors
An advisory council of diocesan priests, as appointed by a diocesan bishop, that assists in the administrative affairs of the diocese.

Diocesan Curia
The personnel and offices assisting the diocesan bishop in directing the pastoral activity, administration, and the exercise of judicial power of his diocese. The curia includes among its officers laity and religious as well as clergy. Principal officers of a diocesan curia are the vicar general of the diocese, the chancellor, officials of the diocesan tribunal, examiners, consultors, auditors, the promoter of justice and the defender of the bond.

Diocese
The standard term for a territorial division of the Church, entrusted to a bishop who rules in his own name as local ordinary, and not as a delegate of another. The chief diocese of a province is an archdiocese. It is headed by an archbishop. A diocese is usually limited to a definite territory so that it comprises all the faithful who inhabit that territory. [Cf. cc. 369 and 372, #1] In Eastern-rite churches, the term eparchy is used.

A mission, or quasi-parish, is a parish which has not been established because it lacks one or more of the following qualifications: a resident pastor; necessary financial resources; territorial boundaries; or a natural grouping by way of rite, nationality, or language. Pastoral Council
A consultative body which the pastor or bishop consults concerning the pastoral activity within the diocese. Its members include laity, religious, and clergy. The pastoral council's purpose is to study practical situations, difficulties and problems, and make concrete recommendations and proposals to the diocesan bishop. The pastoral council is always subject to the final authority of the pastor or bishop.

Patriarch
The Pope is the traditional "Patriarch of the West." All other bishops in the Latin Rite, even those with the honorary title of "Patriarch," are subject to him. Similarly, patriarchs within nations have only an honorary title unless special provisions are made otherwise. Eastern-rite Patriarchs are subject to the Pope while serving as heads of the faithful belonging to their rites throughout the world.

Personal Prelature
In addition to the territorial arrangement of the Church into particular or local churches or dioceses, canon law also provides for non-territorial areas of religious jurisdiction, incorporating secular clergy and deacons. Membership is also open to lay persons. These prelatures are established to meet specific pastoral or missionary needs at the regional, national, or international level without infringing on the rights of the local bishops. A prelature is presided over by a personal prelate, who is an ordinary with the right to establish seminaries and ordain priests as members of the prelature.

Canon law also allows for laity to be associated in the works of prelatures without being withdrawn from the jurisdiction of their own diocesan bishop.

Presbyteral Council
Also known as the priests' council, the presbyteral council is the principal consultative body mandated by the Code of Canon Law to advise the diocesan bishop in matters of pastoral governance. It consists of bishops and priests serving the diocese.

Propagation of the Faith
An organization, headquartered in Rome, which distributes aid to Catholic missions and organizes the work of missionaries all over the world. The organization has responsibility for fostering missionary vocations, assigning missionaries to field work, defining ecclesiastical boundaries and assigning clergy to them, and encouraging training and installation of native-born clergy.

Promoter of Justice
A cleric or lay person, holding a graduate degree in canon law, who is appointed by the diocesan bishop to serve in the role of a "prosecuting attorney" in trials of crimes against church law and of other judicial litigations in the diocese. A promoter of justice may be appointed for a specific case by the bishop.

Province
A defined geographic area containing an archdiocese, or Metropolitan See, and at least one diocese, or Suffragen See. The archbishop of the archdiocese has no direct powers over the Suffragen Sees, but does have limited advisory and appellate authority and obligations. The term also refers to a territorial grouping of particular churches or communities, or a territory of a religious order.

Provincial
The superior of the communities of a religious order that constitute a province.

Provincial Council
An assembly of the bishops of an ecclesiastical province, called by the metropolitan archbishop. The term is also used in reference to the provincial superior of a province, along with his or her chief advisors.

Receptions into the Church
Can take two forms: baptism of those not previously validly baptized, or "reception into full communion" with the Church for those who have already been baptized, in which case a profession of faith affects the reception.

Religious Priest/Diocesan Priest
Religious, or regular, priests are those who are professed members of a religious order or institute. Religious clergy live according to the rule of their respective orders. In pastoral ministry, they are under the jurisdiction of their local bishop, as well as the superiors of their order. Diocesan, or secular, priests are under the direction of their local bishop. They commit to serving their congregations and other institutions.

Retreat
A period of time spent in meditation and religious exercise. Retreats may take various forms, from traditional closed forms, to open retreats, which do not disengage the participants from day-to-day life. Both clergy and lay people of all ages participate in retreats. Houses and centers providing facilities for retreats are retreat houses.

Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults [RCIA]
The liturgical book containing the norms and rituals of the Catholic Church for people who wish to join the Church. Part of the book is intended for baptized Christians who wish to become Catholics. The term is used in a general sense to refer to the process of entering the Catholic Church.

Roman Curia
The official collective name for the administrative agencies and courts, and their officials, who assist the Pope in governing the Church. Members are appointed and granted authority by the Pope.

St. Vincent DePaul Society
Originally known as the Conference of Charity, this is an organization of lay people who serve the poor through spiritual and material works of mercy. The society operates stores, rehabilitation workshops, food centers, shelters, criminal justice and other programs.

Scholastic
A member of a religious order who has completed his novitiate, but has not yet been ordained.

Scholastic Teaching
Usually refers to Scholastic Philosophy, which is the basis for much Catholic Theology. It comes from the canonical "schools" of the 12th-13th centuries, St. Thomas Aquinas, St. Bonaventure, St. Albert the Great, etc., who developed "scholasticism" based mainly on Aristotle. It is the semi-official philosophy of the Church.

Secular Institute
Canonically erected institute of consecrated life for single laity and clerics who strive for the perfection of charity and work for the sanctification of the world while remaining in a lifestyle within the world.

See
The word is taken from the Latin word "sedes" ("seat"), and is used to denote a diocese or ecclesiastical district. The term Holy See is reserved to the diocese of Rome whose bishop is the Pope.

Seminary
An educational institution for men preparing for Holy Orders. The term originates from the time of St. Augustine, when those preparing for the priesthood were educated in the "cathedral school." During the Middle Ages, the clergy were educated in a university setting where faculties of philosophy, theology, and canon law existed. Eventually individual dioceses or provinces came to establish their own schools for educating their clerical students. Traditional seminaries date from the Council of Trent in the 16th century.

A school for the spiritual, academic, and pastoral education and formation of priesthood candidates is known as a major seminary in which the focus is on philosophical and theological education. To prepare for entrance into a major seminary, a period of study is set aside for the required courses in the humanities and the sciences in institutions called minor seminaries.

Serra Club
Local units of Serra International, an organization which promotes vocations to the priesthood and religious life, and offers instruction to lay leaders.

Sister
The term, in the strictest sense, refers to women religious who belong to institutes which have professed simple vows. However, in everyday usage, the term is used for any woman religious.

Sodality
A group of laity established for the promotion of Christian life and worship, or some other religious purpose.

Special Centers for Social Services
This would seem to overlap with Specialized Homes. Some of the categorization is fairly arbitrary. Catholic Charities might have its own proper distinctions for government or private funding purposes.

Specialized Homes
Includes such institutions as homes for handicapped (e.g., Misericordia Homes), youth homes (e.g., Maryville, Mercy Boys and Girls, Homes), homes for battered women, drug rehab centers, homes for unwed mothers, etc.

Superior
The head of a religious order or congregation. He or she may be the head of a province, or an individual house.

Synod
A gathering of designated officials and representatives of a church, that has legislative and policy-making powers.

1. Synod of Bishops
The Synod of Bishops is a consultative body, unless explicitly stated otherwise by His Holiness, expressing the communion of the hierarchy. A synod of bishops meets in general assembly, either in "Ordinary" or "Extraordinary" session, when the matter for treatment concerns the whole Church and in "Special Assembly" when the matter deals directly with a definite region or regions.

2. Synod of Oriental Churches
The synods of the Oriental Churches enjoy various prerogatives including the right to elect bishops, regulate discipline and exercise pastoral authority in their respective churches.

3. Diocesan Synod
A diocesan synod is an expression of the communion of the particular church. A diocesan synod enjoys the participation of priests, women and men religious and laypersons; the bishop is the sole legislator.

Theologate
An institution which provides the last four years of study for candidates for the priesthood.

Titular See
A former diocese which no longer physically or geographically exists. Titular Sees are given as an honorary title to any bishop not serving as a chief pastor of a diocese, i.e., auxiliary bishops, papal representatives, and bishops of the Roman Curia.

Tribunal
A tribunal (court) is the name given to the person or persons who exercise the Church's judicial powers. By its very nature, this procedure involves the determination of a legal controversy. A major concern of tribunals is conducting the process leading to the dissolution or annulment of marriages. In ecclesiastical matters, definite procedural norms for conducting a trial are found in the Code of Canon Law to settle disputes. There are various grades of tribunals, including diocesan tribunals, the first court of trial for most cases; regional and metropolitan tribunals, located in an archdiocese, the appellate court for all cases tried within the province; and the tribunals of the Holy See, which act as the Church's central appellate court, try cases reserved to the Holy See, deal with questions of procedure and jurisdiction of the other courts, and act as the Church's supreme court.

United States Catholic Conference [USCC]
The civil corporation and executive agency of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. The USCC acts as the national public policy organization of the NCCB. Its purpose is to organize and promote Catholic activity in the U.S. and abroad, and to carry out the religious and social action of the Catholic Church in the U.S. The major departments are education, communication, and social development and world peace.

Vicar
The appointment of a priest or a bishop as an episcopal vicar is an option given to a diocesan bishop when he needs a deputy for governing a specific territory within the diocese, a group of persons or a specific rite, or a type of apostolic work within the diocese.

By Church law, the diocesan bishop is the judge of all cases in the diocesan tribunal of first trial. He must appoint a priest with ordinary power to judge cases not reserved to the bishop himself. This priest must have a graduate degree in canon law. He is called the judicial vicar, and is sometimes referred to as the chief judge or "officialis." He may be given another priest as an assistant with the title of adjutant judicial vicar.

A bishop or priest appointed to participate in the executive (administrative) governance of the diocese with executive jurisdiction as a deputy of the diocesan bishop is a vicar general. The appointment of a vicar general is mandatory for every diocese. This office is designed to facilitate and unify diocesan administration.

Vicar for Religious
A priest appointed by a bishop to act as his representative in dealing with the religious communities in his diocese.

PART I
Hierarchy of the Catholic Church

The Hierarchy, as the supreme governing body of the Catholic Church, consists of the Roman Pontiff, the successor of Peter, and the Bishops joined together with him and never without him (canons 330,331,336) in one apostolic college to provide for the common good of the Church. The Roman Pontiff in the exercise of his office is assisted by the College of Cardinals, and further by the departments also called "dicasteries" of the Roman Curia. The bishops, of whom some bear the titles of Patriarch and Archbishop, are united with the Roman Pontiff in the governance of the whole Church; the bishops, when assigned to particular Sees, are individually responsible for the teaching, sanctification and governance of their particular Church. Apostolic Vicars and Prefects together with certain Abbots and other Prelates are also joined in this work.

HIS HOLINESS THE POPE

Bishop of Rome and Vicar of Jesus Christ,
Successor of St. Peter, Prince of the Apostles,
Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church.
Patriarch of the West
Primate of Italy.
Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Roman Province,
Servant of the Servants of God
Sovereign of Vatican City State.

JOHN PAUL II

KAROL WOJTYLA

The present successor of St. Peter was born in Wadowice, Diocese of Krakow, May 18, 1920; ordained Priest, November 1, 1946; appointed Titular Bishop of Ombi July 4, 1958; Promoted to Archbishop of Krakow, January 13, 1964; Proclaimed and created Cardinal June 26, 1967. Elected Pope, October 16, 1978; installed October 22, 1978.

VATICAN CITY

Vatican City is the smallest state in the world, occupying 108.7 acres, of which about one third is covered with buildings and is situated on the right side of the Tiber river. Vatican City has territory, population, and sovereignity. This territory, limited as it is, suffices to guarantee the spiritual and temporal independence needed for the exercise of the Holy See's spiritual mission. In 1870 the Kingdom of Italy seized all Vatican possessions which for several centuries had constituted the papal temporal domain. But even after 1870 the Holy See continued to regard itself as a separate entity in international law, and was recognized as such by numerous states with which it retained normal diplomatic relations. After long discussions the Holy See and the then Kingdom of Italy signed the Lateran Pacts on February 11, 1929, so that the complete and independent authority of the Vatican State was and is recognized by the Italian state.

The Sovereign of this small state is His Holiness, the Pope.

The government presently is administered by a Pontifical Commission of which His Eminence Edmund Casimir Cardinal Szoka is President.

THE COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

The Cardinals constitute a special college and they assist the Roman Pontiff collegially when they are called together to deal with questions of major importance; they do so individually when they assist the Pope especially in the daily care of the universal Church by means of the different offices which they perform (canons 349-350). The Cardinals who are under eighty years of age elect his successor.

The College of Cardinals is divided into three ranks: Cardinal-Bishops, Cardinal-Priests, and Cardinal-Deacons. The College of Cardinals, when complete formerly consisted of 70 members: 6 Cardinal Bishops, 50 Cardinal Priests and 14 Cardinal Deacons, but the late Pontiffs, Pope John XXIII and Pope Paul VI enlarged the College of Cardinals. At the moment the maximum number of Cardinal electors (those under 80 years of age) must not exceed 120.

The Cardinal Bishops (except the Patriarch-Cardinals of the Oriental Rites), have as Titular Sees the Suburban Sees of Rome, which are: Porto Santa Rufina, Albano, Palestrina, Sabina, Frascati, Velletri, Segni. The Cardinal Dean has united to his See the See of Ostia. The Cardinal Priests take their title from the "Titular Churches" to which they are appointed: the Cardinal Deacons are appointed to other Churches called "Deaconries." The first Cardinal Bishop is Dean; the first Cardinal Priest is First Priest; and the first Cardinal Deacon is First Deacon of the Sacred College. The Dean has the right of ordaining the new Pope if he is not already a bishop; the First Deacon the right of proclaiming him and investing him with the sacred Pallium. On the death of the Pontiff, the Cardinal Camerlengo has the Administration of the affairs of the Holy See.

Sometimes the Roman Pontiff promotes a person to the dignity of Cardinal but does not make public his name and keeps it "in pectore." Upon the publication of his name, this Cardinal enjoys his right of precedence from the day on which his name was reserved "in pectore" by the Pope (cfr. Can. 351 3).

The Roman Curia

The present norms regarding the Roman Curia were publicly announced June 28, 1988, in the "Pastor Bonus - Constitutio Apostolica de Romana Curia," and published in A.A.S. LXXX/1988, Commentarium Officiale; pp. 841-934. The Supreme Pontiff usually conducts business of the universal Church by means of the Roman Curia, which fulfills its duty in his name and by his authority for the good and the service of the Churches; it consists of the Secretariat of State or the Papal Secretariat, congregations, tribunals and other institutions, whose structure and competency are defined in special law (can. 360). The Roman curia is the complex of departments and institutes which assist the Roman Pontiff in the exercise of his supreme pastoral function for the good and service of the universal Church and of the particular churches, by which the unity of faith and communion of the people of God is strengthened and the mission is promoted which is proper to the Church in the world.

I. THE SECRETARIAT OF STATE TO HIS HOLINESS

The Secretariat of State

The Secretariat of State closely assists the Supreme Pontiff in the exercise of his supreme function. The cardinal secretary of state presides over it. It includes two sections, namely the section for general affairs under the immediate direction of the substitute, assisted by an assessor, and the section for relations with states under the direction of its own secretary, with the assistance of a subsecretary. Attached to this latter section is a body of cardinals and some bishops.

Secretary of State: His Eminence Angelo Cardinal Sodano.

Office: Apostolic Palace, 00120 Vatican City State, Europe. Tel: 69.88.34.38; Fax: 69.88.50.88.

First Section: for General Affairs

The first section handles anything entrusted to it by the Holy Father, as well as matters of daily business which do not fall within the competence of other dicasteries. It fosters relations with these departments, with the bishops, and with the diplomatic missions of the Holy See.

Substitute: Archbishop Giovanni Battista Re.

Assessor: Rev. Msgr. Pedro Lopez Quintana.

Second Section: for Relations with States

The second section of the Secretariat of State handles all matters pertaining to civil governments, fostering diplomatic relations with nations, and maintaining contact with all the diplomatic missions of the Holy See. It takes care also of what concerns the presence and activity of the Holy See in international institutes.

Secretary: Archbishop Jean-Louis Tauran.

Under-Secretary: Rev. Msgr. Celestino Migliore.

II. THE CONGREGATIONS

By the name of "department" (dicasteria) is understood: the congregations, tribunals, councils and offices, namely the Apostolic Camera, the Administration of the Patrimony of the Apostolic See, and the Prefecture of Economic Affairs of the Holy See. The departments are juridically equal among themselves. Attached to the institutes of the Roman Curia are the Prefecture of the Papal Household and the Office of Liturgical Celebrations of the Supreme Pontiff.

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith

The proper function of the Congregation on the Doctrine of the Faith is to promote and safeguard the doctrine of faith and morals in the whole Catholic world; therefore, those things belong to it which touch this matter in any way. Fulfilling the function of promoting doctrine, it fosters studies in order that the understanding of the faith might grow and that a response can be prepared under the light of faith for new questions arising from developments in science and human culture. It is a help to bishops, whether individually or gathered in assemblies, in the exercise of the function by which they are constituted authentic teachers and doctors of the faith as well as the office by which they are held to safeguard and promote the integrity of that faith. This Sacred Congregation reproves doctrines opposed to the principles of the faith after the interested Bishops of a region have been heard. It studies the books referred to it and, if necessary, reproves them after the author has been heard and has had an opportunity to defend himself and after the Ordinary has been forewarned. It also examines whatever concerns ""the privilege of the faith" whether in law and in fact. It is competent to pass judgement on errors about the faith according to the norms of an ordinary process. It safeguards the dignity of the sacrament of Penance. The Congregation proceeds administratively or judicially according to the nature of the question to be treated.

Cardinal Prefect: His Eminence Joseph Cardinal Ratzinger.

Territories in which a major part of the Christians belong to Oriental rites are subject only to this Congregation. It belongs to the Congregation for Bishops to propose to the Roman Pontiff, for approval, the constitution of new dioceses, provinces and regions; to divide, unite and realign them after consulting the interested Episcopal Conferences; it deals also with the erection of the military ordinariates and, after consulting the Episcopal Conference, prelacies for special pastoral ministries for various regions or social groups. This Congregation provides also for the naming of bishops, apostolic administrators, coadjutors and auxiliaries of bishops, military and other vicars and prelates enjoying personal jurisdiction.

In the territories subject to it, the Congregation has charge of all that pertains to the holding of synods and councils, to the establishing of episcopal conferences and to the review of their statutes and decrees. The Congregation has a Supreme Council for the direction of Pontifical Missionary Works, on which depend the general Councils of the Missionary Union of the Clergy, the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the Society of St. Peter the Apostole, and the Society of the Holy Childhood.

The Catholic Church in the United States

The organizational structure of the Catholic Church in the United States consists of 33 Provinces with as many Archdioceses (Metropolitan Sees); 148 Suffragan Sees (Dioceses); The Military Archdiocese; four Eastern-Rite jurisdictions immediately subject to the Holy See in Rome. The Eparchies of St. Maron (Maronites), Newton (Melkites), St. Thomas the Apostle of Detroit (Chaldeans) and St. George Martyr of Canton, Ohio (Romanians). Each of these jurisdictions is under the direction of an Archbishop and Bishop called an Ordinary, who has apostolic responsibility and authority for the pastoral service of the people in his care.

The structure includes the territorial episcopal conference known as the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. In and through this body, which is strictly ecclesiastical and has defined juridical authority, the Bishops exercise their collegiate pastorate over the Church in the entire country.

Related to the NCCB is the United States Catholic Conference, a civil corporation and operational secretariat through which the Bishops, in cooperation with other members of the Church, act on a wider-than-ecclesiastical scale for the good of the Church and society in the United States.

The following is a list of the thirteen regions in the United States and provinces within those regions.

National Conference of Catholic Bishops

Address—3211 Fourth St., Washington, DC 20017-1194. Tel: 202-541-3000.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops (NCCB) is a canonical entity operating in accordance with the Conciliar Decree Christus Dominus. Its purpose is to foster the Church's mission by providing the Bishops of the United States of America with an opportunity to exchange views and insights of prudence and experience and to exercise in a joint manner their pastoral office. (cf. Christus Dominus, # 38). The NCCB is the successor to the Annual Meeting of the Bishops of the United States, approved in the brief "Communes" issued by Pope Benedict XV, April 10, 1919 and in a special letter of Pius XI issued on August 10, 1927. The present NCCB statutes with some slight amendment are those originally approved by the Sacred Consistorial Congregation in a decree issued on June 22, 1922.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is composed of every Bishop, residential or titular, who serves the Church in the United States, its territories or possessions. Each Bishop has an active and passive voice in the Conference. Under certain conditions, enunciated in conciliar legislation, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops can initiate actions that are juridically binding on all the bishops of the country.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is presided over by a president who is elected by the general membership. Other officers of the organization are a vice president, secretary, treasurer and general secretary. The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is a distinct entity from the United States Catholic Conference. Its relationship to the USCC is that of a sponsoring organization.

CRS maintains programs and projects in over 80 countries around the world. Help is given to all those in need regardless of race, creed or political affiliation.

In addition to its highly acclaimed disaster relief work, CRS carries on community development and social justice programs throughout the developing world. These include health projects, school feeding programs, agricultural development, water resource management, income-generating projects, and community promotion and are designed to help people help themselves and to raise the standard of living of families and entire communities.

CRS operations are funded, in part, from the proceeds of an annual collection - American Bishops Overseas Appeal (also known as the Bishop's Welfare Emergency Fund) - held during the Lenten season in more than 18,000 Catholic churches in the U.S. Support is also received from Operation Rice Bowl, Catholic Relief Services Lenten program of prayer, fasting, learning and giving, and from individuals, church and school groups, foundations and corporations. Assistance from the federal government takes several forms: food available under Title II of Public Law 480; defrayment of ocean freight costs on U.S. government-donated foods and relief supplies generated by CRS itself; grants for some emergency operations.

In addition to Operation Rice Bowl, Catholic Relief Services' Church Outreach programs, such as Work of Human Hands and Food Fast, involve schools and parishes in global solidarity and the information on planned giving programs, including wills/bequests, and annuities, are available upon request.

In the year ending Dec. 31, 1997, Catholic Relief Services' global program in 80 countries had a total value of 218 million dollars.

Catholic Charities USA is a national network of more than 1,200 agencies and institutions as well as thousands of concerned individuals who are dedicated to serving the most vulnerable members of American society. The nation's largest network of private, independent social service organizations aims to support families, strengthen communities, and reduce poverty.

Diocesan Catholic Charities agencies provide shelter, food, counseling and a host of other services to children, teen parents, adults, and the elderly. The services are offered to people of all religious, national, racial, social, and economic backgrounds. Each year, millions of people turn to Catholic Charities for everything from a hot meal at a soup kitchen to a new family through adoption.

The organization was founded in 1910 as the National Conference of Catholic Charities by the Most Rev. Thomas J. Shahan and Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. Kerby in cooperation with lay leaders of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Today the network has several hundred thousand volunteers and staff members who provide services to people in need, advocate for justice in social structures, and call the entire Church and other people of good will to do the same.

Catholic Charities USA serves members through national and regional meetings and networking, training, literature, and social policy advocacy on the national level. It is commissioned by the U.S. Catholic Conference to represent the Catholic community when disasters strike in the United States. Catholic Charities USA's president represents North America before Caritas Internationalis, the international conference of Catholic Charities, and thus maintains contact with the Catholic Charities Movement throughout the world.

The goal of this organization is to provide parishes and dioceses with a Total Stewardship Process called THE CHRISTIAN CELEBRATION OF LIFE (CCL), an integrated, comprehensive, systematically carried out formation of laity and clergy in Evangelization, Discipleship and Stewardship. The NCCTS achieves its goal by conducting Schools of Evangelization in dioceses and parishes and on the Internet for clergy, religious and laity and by working with them to implement the CCL in the local church. Implementation takes place on three levels: 1) Information on the CCL for in-place Leadership, clergy and laity; 2)Formation in the CCL for both parish leadership and newly recruited lay leaders called Small Ecclesial Faith Communities; 3) Transformation of church-going people into responsible Stewards of their Gifts, who reach out to non-church-going people by Home Visitation and Evangelization to build up the faith community. Transformation climaxes with Stewardship of Eucharist in order to deepen belief in and love of the Holy Eucharist, the fountain and summit of holiness. Under the title Giving in Thanksgiving, tithing is introduced as an "act of worship" within the liturgy. The CCL is also a perfect instrument for implementing the Holy Father's universal plan of preparation of the Church for the Great Jubilee Year 2000. By utilizing each Sunday's cyclical readings and supporting orthodox magisterial teaching, the pulpit and pew are connected by means of the NCCTS' "Homily Guides for Bishops, Priests, and Deacons" and "Spiritual Formation Sessions for Laity." The NCCTS also offers an ongoing series of archived tapes and audiovisual programs which bring the concepts of biblical Evangelization, Discipleship and Stewardship to life in the parish.
